

Health Reform Editorial

Quoting Thomas Jefferson:

“This... [is] a country where the will of the majority is the law, and ought to be the law.”

“This law once disregarded, no other remains but that of force, which ends necessarily in military despotism.”

I pray our country rallies together to accept the majority and work for regulation that allows health reform to work. With disunity, I fear one day a single-payer may be our military despot.
